

Reflection

While doing this portfolio, I did a lot of research and I learned a lot of new things about the topics given to write the essays on. It helped me further understand what topics I studied in the past by giving me additional information. I found out a lot of interesting facts when researching to write the essay as well as I got to create a lovely website and used the skills, I had learned in my Web Programming courses. A lot at times I felt overwhelmed that I may not be able to finish all the essays and the portfolio in time, I always tried my best to complete what assignment or task that was given to me. There were struggles trying to figure out what to write for my essays, but it all worked out in the end.
